DETAILED ACTION

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 8/21/2007 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 10-12 and 14-21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. It is not clear whether the "second opening" in claim 18 is the same as the "opening" in claim 10.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 10-12 and 14-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Mochizuki (US 6,568,579). Mochizuki discloses a staple case (cartridge 4) that contains a roll staple formed by connecting unformed staples in a roll shape comprising an opening (opening in lower portion of cartridge 4 wherein roller 23 is positioned – See Fig. 4 embodiment and Figure below), formed at a part of the staple case approximately normal to a circumferential surface of the roll staple, through which a member (roller 23) for rotating the roll staple is brought into contact with the roll staple (See column 5, lines 21-26).

Examiner interprets the limitations in claim 10 as the opening being normal to a circumferential surface of the roll staple; this can be shown by a normal line drawn through the opening, which touches a portion of the circumferential surface of the roll staple (this can be seen in the portion of Figure 4 shown below).

Mochizuki further discloses a pull-out opening (opening wherein staples S pass beneath plate 4 – See Fig. 4 embodiment) through which the roll staple is pulled out; a cushion portion (See figure below); a portion for positioning in a containing chamber (45 slides into 43 to position the cartridge into the containing chamber 2); a guide portion for guiding the staple case to a containing chamber (46 slides into 44 to guide the cartridge into the containing chamber 2); a first case half and a second case half (See Figure below); a first opening (opening wherein staples S pass beneath plate 4 – See Fig. 4 embodiment) through which the roll staple is pulled out; and a second opening (opening in lower portion of cartridge 4 wherein roller 23 is positioned – See Fig. 4 embodiment and Figure below) through which a member for rotating the roll staple is brought into contact with the roll staple, wherein the first opening is provided on the second case half, and the second opening is provided on the first case half (See Figure below); and a weak portion (hinge – See Figure below) on a joint between the first case half and the second case half.

Regarding claim 12, since no reference point for the orientation of the case is claimed, the case of Mochizuki can be oriented in a position where the pull-out opening is at a vertical center of a front face.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

8. Claims 20 and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Mochizuki (US 6,568,579) in view of Haramiishi (US 7,048,165). Mochizuki discloses an upper/front face (Second case half – See Figure above) and a bottom/back face (First case half – See Figure above) having a different shape to the upper face. Mochizuki discloses all the limitations of the claims except for the specifics of the markings on the staple case.

However, Haramiishi teaches a cartridge casing (24) comprising an arrow on the side face of the case for the purpose of indicating the direction in which the case is inserted into the stapler (See Fig. 7 embodiment). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the staple case of Mochizuki with the arrow marking on the side face as taught by Haramiishi in order to show the user the correct direction in which the staple case is to be inserted into the stapler.
